

Veena S Suthan
C6

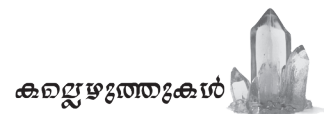

Men and women are like apples and oranges. You cannot compare them. Then one must question the repeated callings for equality. What is the essence of equality that one sector of our society sodesperately wants? Why feminism? One of the issues is opportunity. Everyone in the society should get an equal try at everything. Caste, religion or gender should not be a barrier for one to achieve their goals. So, for example:-feminism does not claim that women are better or good drivers. More than often, women are not. It just asks for an opportunity for her to try her driving skills - what if she is good? Then everyone wants respect. Most men consider household work demeaning, so much so that most men find it beneath themselves to even pick up a broom or even wash the plate they ate in. This is a startling reality in most of our homes. Why limit ourselves? Let us together do all the work we can.

Nobody should be lenient to a study just because of the student's gender. It is a common belief that in most situations girls get less scolding from the authorities than the boys. Also there are chances of a guy getting less punishment than a girl if caught smoking or jumping the hostel walls. Feminism does not ask just for the rights of girls. It wants to free the boys as well. Let the boy cry if he wants. Why should a boy pay the bill on date? Go dutch. Split the bill. Afterall, even boys have rights. Feminism does not ask for Hillary Clinton to be President just because she is a female. It asks that she is only elected President if she truly deserves it. Feminism asks for her gender to not be an obstacle to her dreams, it does not ask her gender to be the reason for people to hand her dream. Men and women are both victims of decades of patriarchy. Both men and women need feminism. It does not aim to portray women as victims and men as evil. It just wants to liberate the suppressed sections of society.

ആസിഡ്

Sunaib Muhammed
M8

തേനുറുന്ന പ്രണയത്തിനും
തീതുപ്പുന്ന വിപ്ലവത്തിനുമിടയിൽ
പൂളിക്കുന്ന വിങ്ങലാവാൻ
ഇനിയെന്നെ ക്ഷണിക്കരുത്
-ആസിഡ്

കെട്ടുഴഞ്ഞുകൾ